Reno for Rio Bonito.

Am willing to trade Rio Bonito lands in Butte county, California, for two or three town lots, or for a house and lot in Reno. It is believed that Rio Bonito property will increase in value 100 per cent within two years. There are no richer lands in the world than the Feather river bottom lands, good for oranges, lemons, peaches, apricots and other fruits without irrigation. This is an excellent opportunity for speculation, or to get a home in one of the best spots in California. Will be in Reno for a few days, and will be pleased to meet all those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not be there your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Bosehee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed us, you may depend upon. eow

THE NEWS OF THE MARKETS.

Few of the lower orders of creation equal the brook trout. He ministers to the curiosity of the naturalist, to the interest of every lover of beauty, to the triumphant joy of the angler, and last, but by no means least, to the supreme delight of the epicure. He is in the market again, having lost for a time the protection of the game laws, and will cost the housewife only 60 cents a pound, if she buys the very best of him on the fish stall. If her lord and master goes afield to catch the trout there is no good way of estimating the cost. Whatever it may be the trout is well worth it.

Few people know, and fewer remember, one great service which Daniel Webster performed for mankind in the ten days during which he was a member of the Massachusetts Legislature. In one of his speeches he said, speaking of that time, "I turned my thoughts to the search of some good object in which I could be useful in the position, and after much reflection I introduced a bill which with the general consent of both houses of the Massachusetts Legislature, passed into a law, and is now a law of the State, which enacts that no man in the State shall catch trout in any other manner than with the ordinary hook and line." How many men have done as much for mankind in a whole lifetime as he did by this one act?

It seems a little hard that with all the toothsome dainties the spring is fetching in her outstretched hands, the old familiar wail should go up in a chorus from thousands upon thousands of households all over the country, "what shall we have for dinner."

For it is certainly true that one half, and probably much more, of the substantial comfort of this world depends on rational, well-considered eating. "Let me have men about me," says Cæsar, "that are fat, sleek-headed men, and such as sleep o'nights," and no generalization of the human race is recognized as being wiser than this.

See to it, then, that such good things as come within your reach and means contribute to the excellence of that life which you cannot live but once.

There is a great store of good things to be had just now, and if brook trout be tabooed by its price, go to! Thou shalt have fish, and of the best. A red snapper is a toothsome bit, and will sell for 15 or 18 cents a pound. Blue fish are just coming, and are choice and cheap at 20 cents. Sea bass will cost a little less, and the best fresh-water bass may be had for 25 cents. If even a little more indulgence is possible without stretching the purse strings too much, choice salmon can be had at from 30 to 35 cents. Moreover, the shad have come north. The first few have already been taken in the North River, and they will soon be in the Connecticut. The price will vary from day to day for the best, but they are plentiful, and show up this year in splendid condition.

Take heart of grace then. Is not here already a grateful change from "the unceasing round" of steaks, and chops, and eggs? But there are many things else than fish, as well as many other fish.

A notable little housewife whom I know, and who never asks what she shall have for dinner, once told me her plan.

She said, "Somebody has to think it all out. I can't trust my servant. I won't bother my husband. I won't take the time to study it over every day. So I make out a list every two weeks of fourteen breakfasts and dinners ahead. I try to avoid too frequent repetitions, and it isn't very hard to do that. I don't make out a regular bill of fare, but just put down one or two of the principal dishes and the dessert.

"Then at the end of the two weeks I begin over again. I don't make just the same list over again and I don't stick to my programme too closely. I do my own buying, so I know pretty well what is new in the markets, and if I want to change the dinner I do it. And after the first list is made out it is easy enough to write out the next one.

"By doing my own buying I serve three purposes; I keep posted on the markets, I get exercise, and I save money. I never run a grocer's or a butcher's bill. If I have not enough money to buy what I want I go without. I find it worries my husband less to have something missing from his dinner, than it does to have bills to pay, for we are poor, you know."

But to resume. Fish isn't the only thing to be had. He who neglects to eat chickens in the spring ought to move to Southern Illinois and feed on ham and corn-dodgers for the rest of his life. Feeding is all he is fit for. He hasn't learned to eat. They come at different prices, the best, of course, being the most expensive. It isn't exactly "of course," by the way, but that is the rule that unhappily obtains with regard to most kinds of food. The best Philadelphia broilers will cost $2 a pair, or perhaps a trifle less, which is fully 60 cents a pound, but excellent spring chickens can be had for much less. Don't be afraid to ask for them and look around for them.

It is a most excellent thing for almost everybody to do, to eat an apple in beginning breakfast, but just now oranges are cheaper, and to many persons are more palatable. They are, of course, the two staples, but some kind of ripe fruit is a prime necessity of good living, and the morning is the best time to eat it. The old proverb is true at that end, though it is absurdly false in declaring fruit to be bad at any hour.

The varieties of fruit to be had just now are not many, if the imported tropical curiosities are left out. Those are grapes, strawberries and plums, none of them cheap, but all good.

Do not gird at me, gentle reader, for taking your time, and my own work and time, in telling you to live well? Do not wrap yourself in the mantle of assumed superiority, and, while affecting to despise carnal things, assume that spiritual welfare is better to be attained by neglect of fleshly comforts. It is not so.

And do not imagine that these letters preach gluttony or gourmandizing. What says Hayward in that good book "The Art of Dining?" "The difference between a gourmet and a gourmand we take to be this: a gourmet is he who selects for his nice and learned delectation, the most choice delicacies prepared in the most scientific manner; whereas the gourmand bears a close analogy to that class of great eaters, ill-naturedly (we dare say) denominated or classed with Aldermen."

The moral of it is, that all-bountiful nature has provided an abundance of the best for man to feed upon. That best, whatever it is, is good enough. Nothing else is good enough for one who would develop the highest possibilities of human life in any direction.

DAVID A. CURTIS.

EVERY NIGHT I SCRATCHED

Until the Skin was Raw, Body Covered with scales like spots of mortar. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

I am going to tell you of the extraordinary change your Cuticura Remedies performed on me. About the first of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers, accompanied with itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, and then the next night the scales being formed meanwhile were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper about your Cuticura Remedies, and purchased them from my druggist and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, and have been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began using the Cuticura Remedies, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I recommended the Cuticura Remedies to all in my vicinity, and I know of a great many who have taken them and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express in words the thanks to you for what the Cuticura Remedies have been to me. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's.

TUESDAY.....JUNE 26, 1888

THE St. Louis platform, it is pointed out, contains no promise of civil service reform for the future, but contents itself with the absurdly false declaration that the reform owes its origin and development to Mr. Cleveland. In fact the reform was agitated long before Cleveland was ever mentioned for the Presidency. The civil service bill was passed in a previous administration, and there has never been any denial of the fact that the letter and spirit of the bill were honestly observed by President Arthur. To the development of the system under the present administration the Democrats are undoubtedly entitled to all the credit which thereto appertains. That development has been such as to call forth rebuke and denunciation from all classes which have the interests of the government and the abolition of the spoils system at heart. The Civil Service Leagues throughout the United States have with one voice condemned Cleveland; the most conservative Mugwump papers have declared he has "violated his pledges and in performance has fallen far short of his promises;" the record of removals shows that he has treated civil service in precisely the same spirit though with far less honesty than Flannigan of Texas when he asked his famous question, "What are we here for if it is not for the offices?" Mr. Cleveland has offered a shameless example of the prostitution of office of power, a thing which he has so hypocritically deplored. The Democratic convention in the face of this dared not stultify itself by further declarations upon civil service reform—a reform inaugurated under Republican administration, observed by the last Republican President, and treated with contemptuous indifference by the man whose bolder promises as to the matter won him so many Republican votes.

As foreshadowed in the telegraphic reports of yesterday, Levi P. Morton of New York has been selected by the Republican National Convention as the nominee of the party for Vice-President. With Harrison of Indiana and Morton of New York, the favorite sons of the two great pivotal States, as the standard-bearers of the party in the coming political contest, success is assured almost beyond a doubt. The States named are no longer doubtful. What the personal popularity of the candidates fails to do in the States named the protective policy of the Republican party will accomplish. Both are great manufacturing States and cannot afford to sanction the free trade policy of the party now in power. As go Indiana and New York so goes the Nation.

THE GAZETTE is pleased to give space in to-day's issue to a communication from J. M. Rhodes of Long valley in which the writer takes exceptions to the strictures detailed to a correspondent of the GAZETTE and published in its issue of the 16th instant, relative to the management of the Nevada & California railroad. Our correspondent gave but the views of the dissatisfied ranchers, and as the GAZETTE is a lover of fair play, it herewith tenders the use of its columns to all who desire to "speak their little piece." If there be any who have the courage of their convictions and desire to answer Mr. Rhodes, the GAZETTE hopes, but does not demand, they will not hide themselves behind an anonymous signature.

A Destructive Fire in Arizona.

HOLBROOK, A. T., June 26.—At 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon a fire started on the southwest portion of this town, destroying the entire business part, including the Atlantic and Pacific depot, section-house and a large number of cars. The loss is not less than $200,000. The fire originated in the wood warehouse belonging to H. H. Scores, and it is supposed to have been a case of spontaneous combustion.

There was a strong wind from the southwest and the fire was so furious that people lost their trunks, clothing and bedding. The estimated loss on the buildings and contents belonging to citizens is not less than $100,000.

By sundown the wind had stopped further destruction, otherwise the town on the north side of the track would surely have been burned.

The town is a mass of smouldering ruins. With the exception of part of a carload of flour belonging to A. & B. Schustar, no provisions of any kind are left in town.

Haggin's Stable.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Seventy-two yearlings, thoroughbreds of Haggin's stable, were sold at auction at Madison-square Garden this afternoon. Many horse owners were present, among them being Hon. Wm. L. Scott, August Belmont, Major Doswell, John Hunter, President of the American Jockey Club.

THE MECCA OF LUXURY.

Special Correspondence GAZETTE.]

HUMBOLDT HOUSE, June 24, '88.

EDITOR GAZETTE—It seems that since "American," "Rolbo" and your humble servant "Nahom" have started in to acquaint your readers with the real condition of affairs throughout Nevada and contiguous territory, that the GAZETTE is growing more popular each day. The subjects all treated of embrace agriculture, mineralogy, cattle and wool interests, and all other industries of which people like to be conversant. The development and prosecution of work on new railroad enterprises, mining undertakings and the progress of the great political battle about to be fought will not escape the attention of either. Public buildings, prosperous hotels and everything else in which capital is engaged cannot but contribute to the future prosperity of Nevada when properly told in the columns of a reliable newspaper. Hence, to-night I transmit my impressions of a day's observations after a good night's rest at this lovely oasis in the desert.

It is only 130 miles from Reno and here the weary traveler either eastward or westward bound regales himself to his heart's content at the neat bar or in the capacious dining room. The latter's capacity is of such ample dimensions as to accommodate 130 people with ease. On the well-supplied tables everything can be had that the most fastidious connoisseur desires in the way of edibles, wines, vegetables, meats, fruit, etc. But it is not a long time since this popular establishment changed hands. It was formerly under the control of Harry Clawsen, but now is run by the well-known firm of Clarke & Green, who for so many years have commanded the patronage of the traveling public at Elko by virtue of the excellent fare they always supply them with. Mr. Green and his excellent wife now manage this beautiful place, and although they have been here only two months the changes they have wrought are not only wonderful, but astonish as well as command the appreciative criticisms of the wayfarer. An entirely new system has been inaugurated, and a corps of the most obliging and gentlemanly as well as intelligent class of waiters to be met with on any part of the road to cater to the wants of their patrons. They are under the supervision of Mr. Smith, who attends personally to the comfort of all comers. Some fifteen rooms, elegantly furnished with the latest designs of the upholster's art, are at the tourist's disposal, while the bar is always supplied with the best in the market. This portion is presided over by Mr. E. R. Crater, an obliging manipulator of the art combination. Wells Fargo's combined with the Western Union Telegraph Office is in the fore part of the hotel and are presided over by Walter D. Ardiance, agent at night, and H. J. Humphries during the day. All trains, whether passenger or not, stop here for orders, and to the credit of the vigilance of the operators and the good management of Superintendent J. H. Whited, no accidents have as yet occurred on this division of the Central Pacific railroad. The large kitchen attached to the neat, clean and capacious dining-room is well supplied with all the modern appliances, while large refrigerating store houses are in accord for the preservation of meats, fruit and vegetables of every nature. There are something like fifteen men employed about the entire establishment which, including fields, orchards, manageries and aviaries, covers over twenty-five acres of ground. The land is irrigated by water from natural springs at the very base of the Humboldt range of mountains, which also supply two immense water tanks for the use of the Central Pacific Railroad Company. This water is very plentiful, and therefore with the same character of land found in the Spanish Spring valley near Reno, produces almost any cereal in abundance, while fruit of every description thrive under its influence. In the front of the hotel some eight acres of land are sown with alfalfa, which has prospered so well that Mr. Green proposes to cut his first crop early next week. Lying contiguous to this is a large patch of about three acres sown with corn, potatoes, cabbage, and other vegetables for domestic use, while interspersed are hundreds of beautiful shade trees.

To the west of the house lies another eight-acre plot that constitutes a lawn rich with English clover, and embowered in the shade of tall poplars, cottonwood, maple, locust and such other lovely shade trees as can be seen any day at Mr. Kelly's nursery at Reno. A little to the north lies an orchard consisting of apple, pear, peach and plum trees, and all are heavily laden with fruit—in fact, so much so that not only will the quantity meet the demands of the proprietors, but they will be enabled to ship many boxes of their surplus to Reno, Elko and elsewhere.

There is another grove lying to the east of the hotel where trees of every variety have been planted years ago and now are of an immense hight. The land is green and verdant surrounding them and gives great relief to the traveler when he steps upon the platform after his monotonous trip across the Continent. Near by can be seen a high-fenced inclosure in which are confined three large elks. One of them attracts great attention by virtue of the enormous dimensions of his antlers. A young speckled fawn roams in and out from field to inclosure and affords much amusement to Master Green, who has just completed his second year. Below a rich pasture furnishes ample fodder and water for two Holstein and two Durham cows, each of which give two and one-half gallons of rich milk at every milking. These are valued at $300 a piece, and furnish enough milk to supply the trade—and there is a great demand for it—the year round, besides enables the proprietors to have all the good, home-churned butter they want. The C. P. R. R. company have a very commodious ice house near by, from which all trains are supplied that run east and west. There is a refreshing fountain, immediately opposite the main entrance to the hotel, surrounded by a circular iron railing and throughout the live-long day water oozes from fifty openings in the sprinkler and renders the surrounding atmosphere delicious in the extreme. The basin is filled with gold-fish, trout, etc., and entertains the curious as they tarry in their race for fortunes in this traveling world of ours. Away farther to the west a pond of greater dimensions is stocked with fish and turtles, while graceful swans, with their long slender necks, commingle with snow-white and canvas-back ducks in their eagerness to solicit favorable commentaries from the passing stranger.

Flowers in abundance appear in the neighboring groves, and swinging nets, long and broad-armed lawn chairs lie loosely around for the accommodation of guests in the delightful shade of the tall trees that protect the tired or lazy seeker after ease in this mecca of luxury on the plains of the far-famed Humboldt.

Mr. Green informed me to-night that he intended to sow the major portion of his twenty-five acres with alfalfa next year, as it would be bound to prove profitable, owing to the vast quantities of water at his disposal. To the east of this beautiful resting place is Mr. J. Griffin's residence and it, too, is a lovely spot. Mr. Griffin, however, owing to the great educational advantages to be had in Reno has removed his family there, where he intends educating his children, and like the proprietors of this pleasant resort, subscribe for, read the GAZETTE and be happy. NAHOM.

THE N. & C. INDORSED.

A Long Valley Rancher Takes Exceptions to "Rolbo's" Letter.

EDITOR RENO GAZETTE.—The numerous readers of the GAZETTE were treated to a very readable communication in your issue of the 16th inst. under the caption of "Long Valley" and over the signature "Rolbo."

Whilst the matters treated upon in that communication are, in the main, correctly stated, there are some other matters to which this last remark will not apply. Not that your correspondent has intentionally misrepresented facts, but rather that he has been misled and given undue weight to complaints against the N. & C. Railroad Company, which, if sifted to the bottom, would be found to be if not wholly groundless, at least based upon very trival circumstances.

When "Rolbo" intimates that every rancher in Long valley is "an avowed and open enemy of the road" he hits wide of the mark. Speaking not alone for myself, but for others with whom I am associated, and I think I may say for a majority of the ranchers of Long valley, I can state that so far from it being a fact that the ranchers of the valley are enemies of the road, the very reverse of this is the true state of the case. The company has our best wishes, and I think deserves our support. We recognize the fact that it is engaged in a legitimate enterprise, legitimately pursued; that it is building its own road with its own means; that it is giving a fair equivalent for an honest day's work; that it is bringing a large amount of property into our country which will in future be represented on the Assessor's books, and to that extent relieve the now-overburdened tax payers of the county; that so far as the facts have transpired it has won a disposition to deal justly, if not liberally, with its patrons. To decry the road and its management under these circumstances, it seems to me, would be a wide departure from the precepts of the Golden Rule, if nothing worse.

We are not to suppose that the managers of the road are here merely for their health, or that they are constructing the road simply as a pastime. With the men who have put their money into the enterprise it has been purely a business venture, based no doubt upon a belief in its prospective utility to the public and its ultimate success as a business venture.

True, those of us who have heretofore been receiving our mail matter from the stage daily at our front gates, feel the loss of facilities thus rendered, and in the exercise of the propensities and privileges of the average American do a great deal of harmless grumbling when compelled to mount our mustangs and gallop off six miles, more or less, to the post-office to get the GAZETTE; but rightly considered this should be regarded as our misfortune and not the fault of the railroad company. That company contracts to carry the United States mail from Reno to certain designated points on the line of their road. Their failure to deliver mail matter at other points than these so designated seems to be "the head and front of their offending," and the burden of the complaints that have evoked the strictures found in Rolbo's communication to your journal.

If it were my province, as it is not, to champion the cause of the railroad company, I might state facts that would give an entirely different coloring to the imputation put upon the company for the manner in which they secured the right of way over lands in the valley, but having set out with the single purpose of disavowing the statement made in your journal, that all the ranchers of the valley are open and avowed enemies of the road, and having in a feeble way accomplished that purpose, I leave the subject of railroad rights and wrongs to be discussed by those more deeply interested in that question.

Messrs. Editors, you are at liberty to publish or cremate this screed, as best accords with your sense of propriety. J. M. RHODES.

MORTON FOR VICE-PRESIDENT

A Favorite Son of the Empire State Unanimously Nominated.

[Owing to the lateness of the hour at which it was received the following was omitted from yesterday's issue.]

CHICAGO, June 25.—The Chair then declared the next order to be the presentation of names for the Vice-Presidential nomination.

Denny of Kentucky nominated W. E. Bradley of that State. He thought it about time the southern Republicans were given a show. Bradley's nomination was seconded by Griffin of Kansas and Warner of Alabama.

When New Jersey was called Senator Seawell stated it was the intention of the New Jersey delegation to present the name of William Walter Phelps for the Vice Presidential nomination. There had been, he said, some brief seconding speeches, and as members of the Convention were tired he would move a recess till 6 o'clock, which was agreed to and the Convention adjourned.

On assembling at 6 o'clock Warner Miller of New York nominated Levi P. Morton of that State. A ballot was taken, with the following result: Morton 591, Phelps 119, Bradley 103, B. K. Bruce 11, W. T. Thomas 1. Amid tremendous enthusiasm the nomination was made unanimous.

Governor Foraker of Ohio, Congressman Hiser of Michigan, General Hastings of Pennsylvania, Chauncey M. Depew of New York and Creed Haymond of California, made speeches congratulating the nominees, each predicting a sweeping Republican victory. The applause following each of the speeches was deafening.

PLATFORM AND RESOLUTIONS

The following platform and resolutions were adopted by the Republican State Convention, which convened at Winnemucca on the 15th instant:

The Republicans of the State of Nevada, in Convention assembled, again express their loyalty to the principles of the Republican party, which have made this country so great and prosperous during the last quarter of a century.

RESOLVED, That the question of a sufficient supply of circulating medium to maintain a permanent range of the price of labor and property is the most important political question awaiting solution by the American people.

That a diminishing quantity of money reduces the price of labor and property, enriches the creditor, impoverishes the debtor, and paralyzes industry and enterprise.

That the present financial system of the United States, which increases or diminishes the circulating medium at the pleasure of the manipulators of the national banks, without regard to the increase of population or the wants of the people, and which recognizes gold alone as the standard of value, and places in the hands of the Treasury Department all the revenue of the Government to speculate with in bonds and loan to the national banks without interest, is subsersive of the rights of the people, oppressive, unjust and should be repudiated.

That a financial policy whereby both gold and silver shall form the basis of circulation, whether the money used by the people be coin, or coin certificates redeemable in coin, or both, as convenience may require, is imperatively demanded.

That the attempt to substitute national bank notes, costing the Government millions of dollars annually, for free silver, costing nothing, is an outrage upon the people; that the money ring or trust, which has usurped the sovereign power of the Government to issue money, and which has fraudulently demonetized silver and seized the revenues of the Government for private speculation, shocks the moral sense of the people and destroys respect for government and law. We demand that the ring or trust be destroyed, and equal rights be restored to all the people.

We charge that President Cleveland is the willing tool or agent of a powerful money ring, which fattens on the subsidies of the Government, makes war on silver, issues its paper currency at the expense of the Government, borrows the revenues raised by taxation and uses them without the payment of interest, contracts the currency to enhance the value of bonds, and enriches usurers, while it depresses the price of labor and property.

That we favor the nomination of no man or President who is personally interested in national banks or the bonded indebtedness of the United States, but we demand a candidate who is free to do justice to all the people of the country—the poor as well as the rich.

That the trick of the President and his advisers by which they prevented a vote in the House of Representatives on the Beck silver amendment to the Bond Purchase bill, equals the villainy of the secret and fraudulent demonetization of silver in 1873.

II.

RESOLVED, That we are in favor of the protection of home industry, and that the laborers of this country have a right to all the work required to supply the people of the United States, and that we are in favor of high wages, and to that end will protect the wage-workers from competition with the cheap labor of other lands.

RESOLVED, That the policy of the Government should be inaugurated and established by the people through their representatives in both Houses of Congress, and not by the President or money trust, of which he, either as agent or head, is most active in defending.

III.

We charge President Cleveland with violating every promise he made in favor of civil service reform, with crippling the mail service, with refusing to sign necessary bills for the improvement of rivers and harbors, with using the power of his administration to prevent appropriations for navy and coast defenses, with attempting to destroy the protective tariff, with courting the good will of other nations at the expense of the citizens of the United States, and with joining the foreign bondholders to demonetize silver and destroy the industries of his own country, and for the reduction of the wages of the Mint employes at Carson, for closing the Carson Mint when it was not only self-sustaining but a source of revenue to the Government, for his contemptuous vetoes of bills for the relief of disabled soldiers and sailors, and for failing to construct the Government building at Carson as required by law.

IV.

We are in favor of the absolute exclusion of Chinese, and of the restriction of immigration by which the overcharged condition of the labor market is made worse, and we favor legislation by which a revision of our naturalization and land laws may be accomplished.

V.

We demand in behalf of our various industries the retention of the duties on lead, borax, soda, hides and leather, and to restore the tariff of 1867 on wool.

VI.

RESOLVED, That we recognize the right of labor to organize for its lawful protection.

VII.

We favor the appropriations by Congress for hydrographical and topographical surveys in this State, to the end that the waste waters may be preserved for the purpose of irrigation.

VIII.

We endorse the wise and conservative administration of Governor Stevenson, and we heartily commend the able efforts of Senators Jones and Stewart and Representative Oodburn in behalf of the interests of this State.

IX.

We favor the granting to Nevada of all Government land within the State for the purpose of providing means for irrigation and other improvements.

X.

We favor the reduction of the Treasury surplus by the payment of pensions to Union soldiers, their widows and orphans, the improvement of rivers and harbors, the building of defenses for the sea coast, the erection of public buildings, the creation of a navy, the purchase of bonds and the repeal of the internal revenue laws taxing tobacco.

XI

It is the duty of this State to maintain free, non-sectarian schools in the rural and sparsely settled districts, as well as in towns and thickly populated sections, and that such division of the school money shall be made as will furnish the means of education to all children of the State.

XII.

We are in favor of reopening the Carson Mint for coinage and raising the wages of its employes to the standard paid by the last administration.

XIII.

We demand the restoration of the mail service in this State to the efficiency maintained by the last Republican administration, and favor the payment of fair wages to all postal employes.

"Three of a Kind."

"Three of a Kind," says the New York Journal, is the last of American farces. It is written by Mr. E. E. Kidder. It is a sort of a jolly, rollicking thing which brings roars of laughter from an audience. To the sober mind it is, perhaps, as genuinely fresh and funny as the "Brook" or "Green room Fun," with which the clever company have become identified. There are witty lines and some bright repartee here and there. "Three of a Kind" may be added to the success of this merry band. If laughter is the test of success, then it is one already. At McKissick's Opera House Thursday night. Box-sheet at Nasby's.

Mrs. O'Leary's Famous Cow

Kicked over a lamp, and Chicago, the bustling young metropolis of the West, was laid in ruins. This is a striking illustration of the old saying that "great results have small beginnings." The neglected cold, the hacking cough of to-day, may, a few months hence, develop into that dread of destroyers, consumption. Be warned in time. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, if taken in the first stages of this dreaded disease, is a certain cure. It is also a sovereign remedy for asthma, bronchitis, sore throat, chronic nasal catarrh, and all diseases of the respiratory organs.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla operates radically upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing and invigorating it. As a safe and absolute cure for the various disorders caused by constitutional taint or infection, this remedy has no equal. Take it this month.

Fryer's Abietene Ointment—Made from the Gum of the Abietene Tree, or "Pinus cabiniana" is guaranteed for Piles, Salt Rheum, Catarrh, Burns, Old Sores, etc. Sold by W. Pinniger. All genuine Abietene preparations bear the fac-simile signature of D. F. Fryer.

PERSONAL.

Miss Eva Quaitle returned from the Comstock last evening.

J. B. Francis, of Wieland brewery fame, is confined to his room by illness.

August Camparon, a disgusted boomer from San Diego, is stopping at the Palace.

James C. Ardery, a Comstock mining engineer, returned home from Placerville last evening.

U. S. District Attorney Thomas E. Haydon has been appointed a Notary Public by Governor Stevenson.

Judge W. M. Sewell, Democratic nominee for the Supreme Court, will shortly start out on a canvass of the State. He has an uphill job before him.

P. Walsh, a well-known stockman of Lander county, is in town for the purpose of purchasing blooded stock from the ranchers of the Truckee Meadows.

George Hymers, while skipping the tra-la-loo on Second street Saturday, slipped and sprained an ankle, and now takes pedestrian exercise with the aid of crutches.

Rev. Father Bouchard, S. J., has commenced his course of missionary labor in Reno, and services will be held in the Catholic church every evening during the present week.

Judge Bigelow has gone to Eureka to preside in the District Court this week in cases wherein Judge Fitzgerald is disqualified by reason of his having been an attorney in said cases.

Rev. C. L. Fisher and Captain C. A. Bragg voted for William Henry Harrison for President of the United States in 1840, and, God willing, will cast their votes for Benjamin Harrison, his grandson, in 1888.

Frand Golden, the Virginia City jeweler, returned from Sierra valley this morning, where he has been for the past two weeks wrestling with an attack of fever. Although somewhat reduced in weight, he says he is "still in the ring."

The Wilber Comedy Company.

A large and thoroughly well-pleased audience assembled in McKissick's Opera House last evening to witness the initial appearance of the A. R. Wiber Comedy Company in the well-known and popular play entitled "The Planter's Wife." While none of the members of the company showed great histrionic ability all were acceptable, every member of the cast at times receiving well-merited applause. It is without doubt, the best company, as a whole, that has appeared in Reno for years, and at the prices charged, crowded houses should greet every performance.

To-night "Galley Slave," a powerful play of the melo-dramatic order, will be presented, and the indications are that a large and fashionable audience will be in attendance. Box-sheet at Nasby's.

Progress on the State Fair Grounds.

A large force of workmen is busily engaged in putting the State Fair grounds in shape for the fall exhibition. The greater part of the lumber for the sheds, etc., has arrived and the contractors are already at work, the fences will be in position by the end of the week, and the work of constructing the grand stand, the foundation of which is already laid, will commence as soon as the lumber is received. Greater attention is being paid to the construction of the race-track, the Directors being determined to make it as substantial and "fast" as any on the coast. It has already been graded, plowed and flooded and will shortly be plowed again and leveled, when it is thought it will meet all requirements. It is expected that all the buildings will be completed by the middle of August.

A Fine Dog.

James L. Conroy received this morning from California a fine thoroughbred pointer. The dog is large and well proportioned, marked liver and white with a few ticks on the feet. He is thoroughly broken and shows in every movement the strain of a long line of pure blood. While Nevada has within her borders many fine and valuable setters there are few pointers, and Mr. Conroy may well feel proud of his acquisition in the way of this most magnificent dog.

A "Straw."

A prominent Democrat of Reno has openly stated that he cannot conscientiously vote for Free-trader Cleveland, and is too good a party man to vote for Harrison.

A Safe Investment

Avoid the use of calomel for billious complaints. Ayer's Cathartic Pills, entirely vegetable, have been tested forty years, and are acknowledged to be the best remedy for torpidity of the liver, costiveness and indigestion.

Why endure sleepless nights, with that dry hacking cough when Fryer's Abietene Cough Balsam will give you rest. (It contains no Opium.) Price, 75 cents. Sold by W. Pinniger. All genuine Abietene preparations bear the fac-simile signature of D. F. Fryer.

THE NOMINEES.

Short Biographical Sketches of Harrison and Morton.

The gentleman selected by the National Republican Convention to be the party candidate for President was born on his grandfather's farm at North Bend, Ohio, August 20, 1833. He traces his lineage through a long line of distinguished ancestors, reaching a great way back in English history. One of them, Thomas Harrison, was appointed by Cromwell to convey Charles I from Windsor to Whitehall, and acted as one of his judges, causing him to be beheaded in 1649. Eleven years later the tables were turned and the friends of the late King paid their respects to Mr. Harrison.

On the 13th of October, 1660, Samuel Pepys made this record in his dairy: "I went out to Charing Cross to see Major-General Harrison hanged, drawn and quartered; which was done there, he looking as cheerful as any man could do in that condition. He was presently cut down and his head and heart shown to the people, at which there was great shouts of joy."

The descendants of Thomas Harrison emigrated to America in early colonial days, and preserving the family traditions, in due time furnished a signer of the Declaration of Independence in the person of Benjamin Harrison, who was sent in 1774 to the Continental Congress from Virginia, was twice a representative and thrice Governor of the State. Dying in 1791, he left a son, William Henry, who for half a century served his country in peace and war, fought the battle of Tippecanoe, was Representative, Senator and Foreign Minister, and died in the White House one month after his inauguration as ninth President of the United States.

John Scott Harrison, son of President William Henry Harrison and father of Benjamin, was a pleasant, easy-going man, well thought of by his neighbors, who sent him twice to Congress. His death was peaceful, but after it occurred local history recorded an incident only less dramatic than the death of his great ancestor. Finding that his grave had been disturbed, his friends began a search which resulted in finding the body in the elevator of a Cincinnati college with a hook under the jaw, attached to a rope ready to hoist it up to the dissecting room.

Benjamin graduated at Miami University; was admitted to the bar, married at the age of twenty, removed to Indianapolis, gained an early reputation for diligence and pertinacity, entered public life as an ardent speaker in the great campaign of 1856, was elected reporter of the Supreme Court of Indiana; entered the volunteer army as a lieutenant, fought long and well and went home a Brigadier General. He took up the labors of an advocate, steadily achieved a secure position at the bar, and in the respect of his fellow citizens, was the Republican candidate for Governor of Indiana in 1876 against Blue Jeans Williams, was elected a United States Senator in 1881, and served six years.

General Harrison's military and civil record are of the best. His practice as a lawyer has been brilliant and successful. As a speaker he is convincing and effective, taking place in the front rank of oratory, while his reputation as a citizen and a gentleman is without a blemish. Mr. Harrison is a man of sterling integrity, conscientious in the discharge of his duty, and as a legislator and citizen above reproach. For personal and political integrity no man stands higher in the United States, and he is looked to as a natural leader of the people. To his high character as a public citizen he adds the higher honor of being a devoted and true husband and a just and affectionate father.

In regard to a question of great moment to this coast, as well as to the whole country, the following from the North American Review is in point: "It has suited the convenience of a few of our brethren, whose intentions are more apparent than their discrimination, to raise a cloud of suspicious dust around the Chinese question, with the expectation that others will not care to strain their eyes in the effort to see through it. General Harrison has no reason either to fear or regret his attitude on the Chinese question. If at any time there was a disposition on the part of some who feel deeply but do not always see straight to put an imaginary interpretation upon the purpose of a statesman who has enjoyed the somewhat rare advantage of bringing both a clear conscience and a clear head to the solution of problems which involve the future that time has passed, and with it have disappeared the passion and the prejudice which clouded the issue. The Chinese question has been settled for many years to come by treaty stipulations, and is no longer an affair for practical politics to deal with. The Pacific coast will unite cordially in the sentiment which is impelling the nearer Western States to recognize in the candidacy of General Harrison a unique combination of advantages."

THE NOMINEE FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

Hon. Levi P. Morton, the candidate for Vice-President, a son of Rev. Daniel Morton, was born in Shoreham, Vermont, May 16, 1824. His first American ancestor was George Morton, one of the Puritan Fathers who landed at Plymouth in 1623.

Mr. Morton began life in a country store at sixteen years of age and was made partner before he was twenty-one. He went to Boston in 1849, and without capital or influence was admitted to a partnership in one of the largest firms in America. In 1854 he removed to New York where he continued in mercantile business until 1863 when he founded the banking house of Morton, Bliss & Co., of that city and Morton, Rose & Co. of London. In 1878 he was elected from the Eleventh District to Congress by a majority of 7,000 and was re-elected in 1880. In March, 1881, President Garfield appointed him Minister to France, and he was unanimously confirmed by the Senate. He was Honorary Commissioner to the Paris Exhibition of Electricity. In July 1881 Dartmouth college honored him with the degree of LL. D.

BREVITIES.

Local and General Intelligence.

Hurrah for Tippecanoe and his grandson, too!

Down with the bandanna and up with the flag, boys.

At the present time there is not an idle mechanic in Reno.

Improvement is the watchword of the property-owners of Reno.

The McKissick Opera House band will do themselves proud on the Comstock July 4th.

The Carson baseball club will play the Hawthorne club on July 4th for a purse of $200.

A woodpile fire on the Eureka and Palisade railroad last week consumed fuel valued at $3,000.

The assessment of twenty-five cents a share on Challenge will be delinquent on the 26th instant.

Tim O'Keefe's new hotel, corner Third and Plaza streets, will be ready for business Saturday night.

By official notice elsewhere the members of the Reno Guard are commanded to report at Armory Hall to-morrow evening for drill.

Wilber's Comedy Company gave four performances in Carson last week and the Appeal says the houses were packed so that every available seat was taken and the aisles full.

A drunken roysterer last night caromed on the large plate glass in the show window of I. Fredrick's jewelry store on Virginia street, and succeeded in shattering it at the first shot.

The Republicans of Carson will hold a ratification meeting to-night. Hon. David McClure of San Francisco, Hon. H. F. Bartine and Judge Hawley will be among the principal speakers.

Invitations are out for the grand opening of John Wieland's new saloon and bottling works, which will take place next Saturday evening. Great preparations are being made for the event and a good time is assured to all who attend.

Johnny Belz, the well-known barber, purchased to-day the brick building on Commercial Row belonging to the Freehill estate and now occupied by H. Davis & Son and C. M. Fassett. The price is away up in the thousands, the amount showing a great advance over the figures at which the property was valued at two years ago, and is indicative of the steady, but not booming, growth of the town.

To-day in Justice Young's Court, the charge of robbery against Frank Brundridge, who was accused of having robbed a verdant countryman named Charles Lawrence, on Sunday last, and who was arrested by Constable Upson after his two companions, Mattie Smith and Miss Carson, had confessed what they knew of the crime, was dismissed on motion of the District Attorney, who deemed the evidence not sufficient to convict.

An Indian Uprising Feared.

A dispatch from Elko, dated the 25th instant, says great fears are entertained there of a Bannock Indian outbreak about Duck Valley and Mountain City, Idaho, and Bruneau Valley, Nevada. The cause is not known. All the Shoshone bucks have suddenly disappeared from here. The United States officers of Boise City have ordered out troops to protect settlers on the border. The information is based on a letter received by J. E. Byrne from his brother, a big cattleman in the aforementioned Territory, at a late hour to-night. It is feared that sad results will follow.

Company C, Attention!

The members of Co. C, Reno Guard, are hereby notified that a cordial invitation is extended to the company to join in the Virginia City celebration on the 4th prox. Co. A, National Guard, extend their hospitalities to Co. C during its stay at Virginia, and the committee will furnish transportation. It is important that these invitations be acted upon immediately. A special meeting of Co. C is called for Wednesday evening, 27th instant, at 8 o'clock prompt, to consider all matters in connection with the coming celebration. A full and prompt attendance is ordered, and for failure to attend the rules will be strictly enforced.

R. H. LINDSAY, Capt. Com'g.
C. H. STODDARD, Sec.

The Truth Will Out.

Elko county is yet without a Clerk, the person elected to the office having, it is supposed says the Silver State, gone to a warmer climate. The "obvious reasons" for which he left are said to be an attempt to burglarize Wells, Fargo & Co.'s office and forging two notes, one for $700 and the other for $500. Relatives of the clerk paid the $500 note and will probably pay the other.

Eureka.

The motto of California means, I have found it. Only in that land of sunshine, where the orange, lemon, olive, fig and grape bloom and ripen, and attain their highest perfection in mid-winter, are the herbs and gum found that are used in that pleasant remedy for all throat and lung troubles.

Santa Abie, the ruler of coughs, asthma, and consumption. Osburn & Shoemaker has been appointed agents for this valuable California remedy, and sell it under a guarantee at $1 a bottle. Three for $2 50.

Try California Cat-R-Cure, the only guaranteed cure for catarrh. $1, by mail $1 10.

Asthma and Phthisic are instantly relieved by taking a few doses of Fryer's Abietene Cough Balsam. (It contains no Opium.) Price, 75 cents. Sold by W. Pinniger. All genuine Abietene preparations bear the fac-simile signature of D. F. Fryer.

UTAH & CALIFORNIA.

The survey for the proposed extension of the Utah Central railway from Milford, Utah, to Barstow, California, is completed. The Pioche Record says the two parties met in Penoyer Valley, some forty miles west of Pahranagat, on Friday, the 8th instant. The party which surveyed this end of the line passed up the flat north of Pioche last Tuesday on their return to Milford.

In building the road the line as now run will not be literally followed. A number of changes will be made, the surveys for some of which may be made before the present surveying party is disbanded. J. F. Smith, the chief of the party at the eastern end, continued on to Barstow over the surveyed line and will probably make some material change on that end of the line.

Sisters of Charity

Charity, attached to St. Mary's Infant Asylum, Dorchester, Mass., certify to the inestimable value of Ayer's Sarsaparilla in the treatment of sore eyes and skin diseases, among the many unfortunate children under their care. Mrs. S. D. Bodwell, Wilmington, Mass., writes concerning the treatment of her daughter, who was troubled with sore eyes, as follows: "I gave Ayer's Sarsaparilla to and must say that she never took anything that helped her so much. I think her eyes never looked so well, as now, since they were affected, and her general health is improving every day. She has taken but half a bottle." A. J. Simpson, 147 East Merrimack st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "My weak eyes were made strong by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I have been troubled with a humor in my eyes, and was unable to obtain any relief, until I commenced using

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

I believe it to be the best of blood purifiers."

For a Number of Years,

I was cured of both diseases by using six bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla." M. G. CHAPTER VIII.

A Rainy Day.

"My dear Olive, I really don't see how you can allow Lillian to carry on so, it is perfectly shocking. I happened to look out of my window yesterday, and who should I see but Lillian walking alone with Mr. Ross, alone, Olive, entirely alone; think of that!"

"My dear Priscilla," replied Mrs. Morgan quietly, "I am sure there can be no objection to the young people being together, and Frank and Mr. Ross are just like brothers. I am sure Lillian should feel an interest in him on Frank's account, if for no other reason."

"She feels an interest in him on his own account, you may be sure of that; but there is no use in talking, people never do take my advice."

With which remark Aunt Priscilla gathered up her sewing and marched off to her own room, to spend the remainder of the morning in thinking over the follies of people who enjoyed thinking for themselves.

Meanwhile Lillian and Kenneth had entered the cozy little sitting room, where Mrs. Morgan was busy with her needle work.

"My dear children, I fear you have been very imprudent, going out in this dreadful storm!" she exclaimed, as they presented themselves before her in their dripping outdoor garments.

"Take off that wet cloak at once, dear!"

Lillian obeyed, and having divested herself of her wet coat and hat, and giving them to Kenneth to hang in the entry, seated herself on the rug before the fire, prepared to have a cozy chat with her aunt.

"What ever induced you to go out in this storm?" inquired Mrs. Morgan.

"Oh, Auntie," replied Lillian, "we went to see the lake; you have no idea how beautiful it is in a storm, so wild and treacherous, and much more attractive than on a pleasant day."

"Yes, but I hope you have not taken cold?" replied Mrs. Morgan, looking anxiously at her niece.

"No, indeed. I have no intention of doing such a foolish thing, as long as we stay in this delightful place. We were all sitting in the parlor doing nothing, and it was getting dreadfully stupid, when Frank suggested a visit to the lake. Hazel declared she would not venture out in this storm for all the lakes in the world, and of course Frank would not go without her, so Mr. Ross and I went alone, and left Hazel and Frank to amuse Ted, for that's just what they have had to do, though I know Frank meant to have some private conversation with Hazel."

"You sly little puss, how do you know that?" said Mrs. Morgan, looking up quickly.

"Oh, I watch Mr. Frank's movements a great deal closer than he has any idea of," replied Lillian. "Don't you think it would be a splendid match Auntie? They seem just suited to each other. I am sure Uncle Allen would approve, he has taken such a fancy to Hazel, and Mrs. Wilber thinks everything Hazel does is just right, so I don't see anything to prevent, do you, Auntie, dear?"

"No, my dear little chatterbox, nothing whatever, unless Hazel and Frank should happen to be so unreasonable as to think they ought not to be consulted about the matter."

"Now, Auntie, you are teasing me. Of course, I am only talking, but I really think it would be nice. I believe I will tease Hazel a little about it to-night."

"You will be as inveterate a matchmaker as your Uncle Allen, if you keep on," said Mrs. Morgan, smiling at her niece's earnest face.

"You just wait Auntie, and see how it turns out. Now I must run away or I shall be late for dinner."

As she ran lightly through the hall she heard Kenneth on the veranda, whistling softly, "Airy Fairy Lillian, Flitting Fairy Lillian," and she smiled and blushed as she ran quietly on.

That evening, as they were all sitting cozily around the fire, master Ted, who had been remarkably quiet for some minutes, suddenly exclaimed:

"I say, Mr. Kenneth! what do you want to spend your time making matches for, when you can buy good ones already made?"

"Come here, you young monkey, and explain yourself," said Kenneth, taking him on his knee, "who said I am going to make matches?"

"Well, I went out to the stable with Campbell, and he said another fellow was talking about a match, and I asked him to tell me. He said little boys should'nt ask questions. I told him I wasn't a little boy, then he said you and Lillian were going to make a fine match. I asked him what for. He said I would have to ask you, so I thought I would."

Lillian blushed scarlet, and walked to the window and pressed her hot face against the cool pane.

Hazel did not raise her eyes from the book, and as Frank was not present, suggested that it was time for all to retire if they expected to ascend the mountain next day.

Master Ted set up a howl at this, but went peacably when Kenneth promised to tell him a story after he was undressed.

Aunt Priscilla, for once in her life, was too shocked to utter a word, and so the party dispersed with fewer words than usual.

After the others had retired to their own rooms for the night, Kenneth Ross lighted a cigar and joined Frank on the veranda.

The rain had ceased, and the moon sailed majestically through the few remaining clouds.

"I think, after all, we will have a fine day for our trip to-morrow. The clouds have nearly all disappeared, and the air will be all the purer for this rain," remarked Kenneth, adding "Do you realize that to-morrow is our last day here?"

"Yes, my brother informed me this morning that they had settled on Thursday as the day for our departure," replied Frank in an indifferent tone.

"Why, my dear fellow, what in the world is the matter with you? You look as gloomy and threatening as those thunder clouds did this morning. Come, old fellow, cheer up. I fear you did not find Miss Wilber's company as agreeable as you anticipated," said Kenneth.

"No," replied Frank, "I did not find it at all agreeable; she utterly refuses to have anything to do with me of late. I tried my best to draw her into conversation this morning, but it was of no use. I declare, I don't understand the girl," and Frank rose from his chair and paced restlessly up and down.

"What has come over you, Frank? I never saw you in such a state before."

"Love has come over me!" exclaimed Frank, desperately; I don't mind telling you, Kenneth, that I love Hazel Wilber, love her as I never loved before, or never will love again. Now, you know my secret; you know why I am so miserable."

"On the contrary," replied Kenneth, "I am more puzzled than before. Come, Frank, have you asked for the fair lady and been refused? That is certainly trying, but—"

"Hush! Kenneth," said Frank, facing his friend, the angry light flashing in his eyes, "I am in no mood for fun, I am in earnest now. I love Hazel Wilber, but how am I to know that she returns that love?"

"Ask her! when shall I ask her, at the table, when the others are all present, or when we are climbing the mountain to-morrow, and my sister Priscilla and that troublesome Ted at our heels, with their ears open to take in every word? I can never see her alone, she seems determined not to be left with me, even for five minutes. I thought I had found my long sought opportunity this morning, when you and Lillian went to view the lake, but the door had scarcely closed behind you when she prepared to leave the room in search of Ted. I suggested that it would be a good opportunity to read the poem she has so often expressed a desire to hear, but it was of no use, she was sure Ted would get into some mischief, and when she returned he was with her. I tell you it's no use, Kenneth," and Frank sank into a chair with such a despondent air, that Kenneth, with great difficulty, refrained from laughing outright.

"See here, Frank, I'll tell you what I will do. I will see that you have Miss Hazel all to yourself to-morrow. It is more than likely that Miss Priscilla will think the trip up the mountain too much for her delicate constitution, and remain at home, and I promise you I will see to Master Ted; he shall not go near you once."

This was rather a rash promise on the part of Kenneth, considering he was aware of Master Ted's faculty for popping up from behind a big rock just when he was least expected.

Frank, however, accepted this proposition, and the two young men retired to their respective apartments, the one to dream of a tall, graceful girl, with golden hair and deep brown eyes; the other to pace the floor with the image of a little gypsy maiden ever before him.
